As an IT service provider you may have customers who need a secure WiFi Internet service for visitors that will protect their business. Please call us for more information about our special deals for IT service businesses.

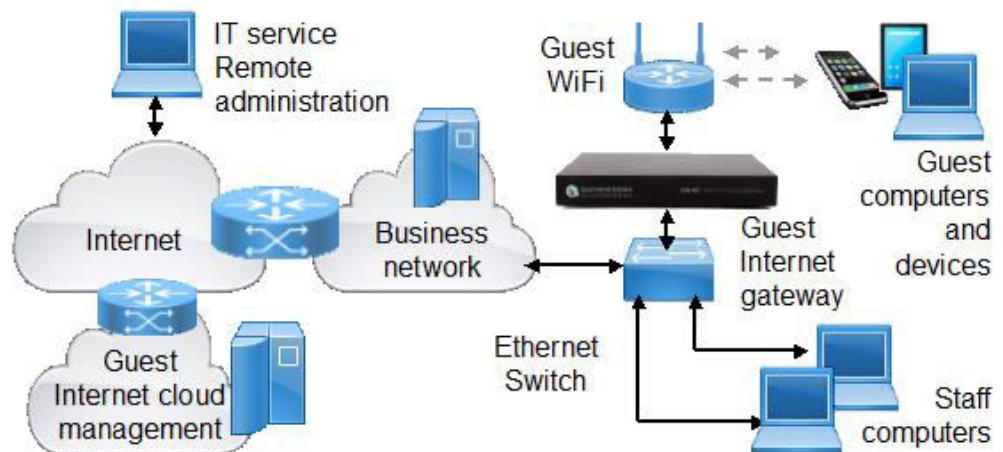

Guest Internet products provide visitors with an excellent WiFi service while protecting the business from potential threats. The firewall will block access to the business computers and point of sale terminal. Additional security features will prevent the service being abused. A business can control Internet access by issuing access codes to visitors.

The IT service business can also offer remote support for the customer with the free Guest Internet remote cloud management service. An unlimited number of Guest Internet products can be managed using the cloud.

Small and medium size businesses rely on IT service providers to install, maintain and support their IT infrastructure. Many businesses provide WiFi Internet for their visitors as part of the service that they offer. Businesses might add a wireless router for visitors without realizing that the open WiFi is an invitation for a cyber attack.
